Conversion Adaptors

12V Conversion Adaptors & Leads

With the change from the traditional 12N and 12S system to the 13 Pin system, the 12V connections on many towing and towed vehicles don't match. This is simply resolved by the use of a converter. This can take the form of a wired assembly or a conversion adaptor. All our 12N connectors conform to ISO 1724, our 12S connectors conform to ISO 3732 and our 13 Pin connectors conform to ISO11446.

13 & 8 Pin 12V Connectors

13 & 8 pin European style plugs and sockets are increasingly replacing the traditional 12V Normal (N) and Supplementary (S) 7 pin system. This change is due to type approval Regulation 48 stipulating that all braked trailers and caravans, as well as all trailers over 6m in length, must be fitted with reverse lights.

13 pin connectors are widely used in caravan applications with auxiliary power and charging circuits. These circuits have been removed from our 8 pin connectors, which are therefore more cost effective for trailer applications.

As a single connector now incorporates all the functions that previously required two, space is saved and installation is simpler. 13 & 8 pin connectors also feature a twist and lock system that is more secure than the 7 pin system and its integral rubber seals resist water ingress more effectively, resulting in a longer lifespan.

All our 13 & 8 pin plugs and sockets comply with ISO 11446. Please visit page 133 for the wiring scheme.

7 Pin 12V Connectors

The 12V Normal (N) and Supplementary (S) 7 pin connection system has been used in the UK for many years. Whilst being gradually superseded by the 13 pin system, this traditional system still remains widely used.

The 12N system connects all lighting functions, with the exception of reverse, which is part of the 12S system. The 12S system also connects a caravan's charging circuits.

All our 12N connectors conform to ISO 1724 and our 12S connectors conform to ISO 3732. Please visit page 133 for the wiring scheme.

Relays

Audible / 'Tell-Tale' Relay

Audible relays buzz in time with the vehicle's indicators when connected. It is a legal requirement to have either a visual or audible monitor fitted so the driver is aware that the indicators are working on a trailer or caravan.

12V PROFESSIONAL AUDIBLE BUZZER

- Fitted at the rear of the vehicle the relay gives an audible signal that is in sequence with the towed vehicle's indicators / flashers
- Easy to conceal within the vehicle
- Excellent sound clarity; loud and high output
- Easy to read standard colour codes
- Instructions included

Display Pack	Bulk Pack
MP3870	MP3870B

Bypass Relays

Bypass relays are used to switch trailer and caravan lights on and off. The relay is connected to the lighting circuit and only draws a small current meaning it cannot be detected by bulb failure sensors in most vehicles. All bypass relays can be powered using either the battery or the fuse box. A fused 12v power supply required for installations.

12V AUDIBLE SENSOR WITH DOUBLE BYPASS & TELL-TALE

- Double bypass relay suitable for switching the towed vehicle's indicator / flasher circuits
- Also features an audible warning that buzzes in time with the indicator / flashers and tell-tale output
- Fly leads for connection to vehicle lighting circuits and screw terminals for output
- Made in the UK

Bulk Pack
MP3875B

12V 7 WAY BYPASS RELAY

A 7 way bypass relay is connected directly to the vehicle's lighting circuits to control the lights on a trailer and caravan. The relays do not put any extra load onto the vehicle's lighting system. The relays also feature a built in audible buzzer that monitors the trailer and caravan indicators.

- Works on most vehicle types and with most bulb & LED lamp combinations
- Differentiates circuits on dual voltage tail/brake and tail/fog systems
- Monitors indicators/flashers via the internal buzzer, which mutes under hazard warning conditions
- Ancillary flasher/indicator monitor output to panel lamp or additional buzzer
- MP3877B2M features 2m long sensor leads for all circuits
- Made in the UK
